

MEMORANDUM

TO: District Superintendents
Principals
Textbook Coordinators

FROM: Allana Prosser
Executive Director of Teaching and Learning

DATE: February 18, 2026

RE: Statewide Transition to New Instructional Materials Management System

The South Carolina Department of Education's Office of Instructional Materials is pleased to announce an important system upgrade that will impact all districts and schools statewide. Beginning Summer 2026, the Office of Instructional Materials will transition from Follett Destiny Textbook Inventory Management System to Ingram Education Services (IES) as our new instructional materials textbook management system. This transition applies only to the textbook management system and does not affect the library management program.

This upgrade represents a significant step forward in improving efficiency, accuracy, and overall user experience for districts and schools as they manage state-adopted instructional materials. Our goal is to modernize the process, streamline workflows, and provide districts and schools with a robust, transparent, and reliable system.

The shift to Ingram Education Services will allow us to:

- Improve tracking and reporting across all districts and schools,
- Simplify ordering and inventory management,
- Increase system stability and reduce manual processes, and
- Enhance communication and workflow between districts, schools, and the Office of Instructional Materials.

What Districts Can Expect

- System Migration: Textbook and student data from Follett Destiny will be migrated to IES beginning this summer.

- Training & Support: Districts will receive regional in-person training opportunities, guidance documents, and virtual support sessions prior to the launch.
- Implementation Timeline: A detailed timeline and next steps will be shared in the coming months to support local planning and preparation.

We are committed to ensuring a smooth transition and will provide ongoing communication as we move through each phase of implementation. Your partnership and collaboration are essential, and we appreciate your continued support as we work to improve the instructional materials process for schools across South Carolina.
