ADEQUATE YEARLY PROGRESS

MET

Definition: As required by the United States Department of Education, Adequate Yearly Progress specifies that the statewide target is met for "All Students" and for the following subgroups: Racial/Ethnic, Subsidized Meals, Disability, and Limited English Proficiency in the areas of English/Language Arts and Mathematics, as well as meeting the statewide target for "All Students" for attendance or graduation rate.

DEFINITIONS OF SCHOOL RATING TERMS

- Excellent – School performance substantially exceeds the standards for progress toward the 2010 SC Performance Goal
- Good – School performance exceeds the standards for progress toward the 2010 SC Performance Goal
- Average – School performance meets the standards for progress toward the 2010 SC Performance Goal
- Below Average – School is in jeopardy of not meeting the standards for progress toward the 2010 SC Performance Goal
- At-Risk – School performance fails to meet the standards for progress toward the 2010 SC Performance Goal

SOUTH CAROLINA PERFORMANCE GOAL

By 2010, South Carolina's student achievement will be ranked in the top half of the states nationally. To achieve this goal, we must become one of the fastest improving systems in the country.

Proud of many accomplishments, the South Carolina Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities (SCGSAH) is the only fully accredited public arts high school in the country having achieved national accreditation by both ACCPAS and SACS. This year, the school ranked third among the top ten schools in the state with the highest SAT scores and third in the state on the ACT test with a composite score of 26.1, far surpassing the state average of 19.9 and the national average of 21.1 on this exam. The SCGSAH received the state's Palmetto Gold award for the seventh consecutive year and continues to have a 100% graduation rate, with every student continuing to a post-secondary school or performance company, and every student receiving some level of financial assistance to continue their education. The SCGSAH had an additional faculty member earn National Board Certification, bringing the school's total to 34%, the highest level in the state. Nationally, less than 2% of teachers have earned this status.

The school continues to lead the nation in awards and achievements on many levels. This year, creative writers received 19 National Scholastic Awards, including one of five $10,000 scholarships for portfolios awarded nationally, and two were named as finalists in the National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts writing competition. A third of the dancers chosen by the Youth America Grand Prix Southeast Regional Dance Competition (4 of 12) selected to perform at the national level were Governor's School dancers. Drama students won five awards in the National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts. Visual Artists won eight Scholastic Art Awards and a National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts award. And a music student was invited to participate in the Aloha International Piano Festival where he won second place.

Additional student honors include a Presidential Scholar in the Arts (one of 20 nationwide), seven National Merit Finalists, two National Achievement Finalists, and one Governor's Citizenship Award.

The 2008 graduating class (109 students) collectively received over $14.6 million in scholarship offers. This brings the total scholarship offers to approximately $79.1 million offered to the 794 students who have graduated from the residential high school. SCGSAH hosted its fifth Teachers' Institute this past summer, welcoming teachers from across the state on campus to participate in one of four arts intensives, which earn them recertification and/or graduate credits. The SCGSAH continues to demonstrate remarkable accomplishments and continued growth.
